

Mobile On-Call Crisis Worker (Barron County, WI)

We are looking for Mental Health Professionals or persons who have a Bachelor's Degree in a human services related field who are interested in being mobile crisis workers. Mobile workers provide on-site assessment of a person's mental health crisis and collaborate with other professionals to coordinate appropriate services.

This is a part-time, on-call position and shifts are shared between several workers. Scheduling is flexible and this is a great opportunity for supplemental income!

Program Overview and Philosophical Approach:

Emergency Services (Crisis Services) is a collaborative effort between Northwest Connections (NWC) crisis workers, consumers, community members, law enforcement, county personnel, contracted agencies, and community providers to coordinate an immediate response to assist a person experiencing a crisis. NWC recognizes the importance of empowerment and person-centered interventions. The principles of respect, support, and least restrictive treatment guide our interventions. NWC draws on the strengths and coping a person, and work to develop healthy coping in conjunction with the development of natural support systems. Crisis is an opportunity to effect change in an individual's natural environment.
